Sponsorship Opportunities

Interest in Adventure Racing has exploded with recent television productions of the Ecochallenge and reality-based shows such as Survivor. Competitors come from a wide demographic, combining physical, mental, and outdoor skills to conquer some of the world's most rugged and beautiful destinations. Disciplines include mountain biking, trail running, trekking, swimming, mountain climbing, caving, kayaking, sailing, canoeing, and horseback riding, all with a healthy dose of navigation and outdoor savvy. Competitions last from several hours to several days and require intense preparation and intimate teamwork.

Team Five-Oh understands the importance of not only the outdoor gear required for the multiple disciplines. but the proper training, nutrition, clothing, and health-related supplies required for these extreme events. Our coed team desires to partner with your company to gain national exposure for your products.

Personal Objectives

I race for two reasons: Camaraderie, adventure, the variety of challenges, the test of human endurance, the sense of accomplishment, the excuse to spend a bunch of money on toys that don't plug into a wall, the excuse to pound down tons of gummy bears, Kit Kats, and P-nut M&M's, not only guiltlessly, but with some positive benefits—did I mention camaraderie?—battling Mother Nature and sometimes winning...sort of ...maybe... occasionally...and being the envy of my other 50-something friends who are clueless as to the allure and think we are just plain nuts. Is that more than two reasons?

Tennis, golf, running, biking, ping pong, basketball, water skiing, and snowboarding. I also enjoy riding my motorcycle occasionally, though my wife doesn't share the same enthusiasm—something about the kids needing a father around as they grow up.

Comments

One thing about Adventure Racing is that you don't see many other sports in which the competitors help each other out. It is a sport where just being out there garners you the respect and mutual admiration of fellow racers.
